

Your disaster checklist

FEMA

Be prepared: Protect your personal finances

If you had to leave your home in an emergency, you would have only minutes to choose what stays and what goes, and your financial records may be one of the last things on your mind.

Collecting, copying, and storing your financial information now could help you avoid problems and recover faster after a disaster. This checklist can help. Use it to make sure you have the information and documents you need. Then, keep it with your important documents so you can refer to it when needed.

Account numbers

Use the sample table on the right, or a separate piece of paper, to organize your account and customer service numbers.

Personal records

Make and store copies of:

- Driver's licenses
- Passports
- Social Security cards
- Birth certificates
- Marriage and divorce papers
- Home titles or deeds
- Car, boat, or RV registrations and titles
- A room-by-room inventory of your belongings

Financial records

Most financial records can be replaced, but you need your insurance information if your property is damaged, or if you or a family member needs medical care. Keeping records safe also helps you avoid trouble if questions arise later about your investments, taxes, or workplace benefits.

Make and store copies of:

- Insurance policies
- Investment records
- Income tax information
- Pay stubs and employer benefits records
- Wills, living wills, trusts, financial and medical powers of attorney

Computer files

If you keep financial records, passwords, family photos, and videos on your computer, consider backing the information up to a secure cloud storage service, or back up your data regularly and keep the backups somewhere safe.

Keep important documents safe and always make copies

Be sure to secure and copy your important papers. Keep the originals in a water-tight container, fire safe, or a bank safe deposit box. If you keep your documents at home, be sure you can grab them in a hurry and go.

Store your copies somewhere else - in a secure place at work or with a trusted relative or friend.

If you have access to a computer, you can scan your documents and then put them on a flash drive or store the information at a secure online storage website.

Inventory your belongings

A written inventory of your belongings, backed up by a video of each room in your home, can help prove what you lost and what was damaged.

After a disaster

If a disaster strikes your home, as soon as possible, contact your credit card company, your mortgage lender, and other creditors to let them know about your situation. Most of them have ways to help.

If you can't live in your home, check with your utility companies (e.g. electric, gas, cable) to see if you can shut off service to add extra money to your budget.

Many people and groups will offer help. Disaster-chasing criminals may also show up and try to scam you.

Watch out for:

- Up-front fees to help you claim services, benefits, or get loans. Government employees never charge to help you get a benefit or service.
- Contractors selling repairs door-to-door, especially if they offer deep discounts or ask you to pay them up front
- Insurance agents who try to sell you after-the-fact policies
- Organizations with names similar to government agencies or charities
